

Passport to Adventure!

Here's an activity with SO many different possibilities! Teach your child about your local community, use it as an opportunity to learn about new cultures, or simply document daily routines throughout the day! You can either use the attached template below or create your very own homemade passports using a variety of materials (printer paper, construction paper, scissors, etc.).

Stickers, rubber stamps, or even just simple drawings can be used to fill in each new section. To encourage longer-term focus, think about an end goal for completion – an incentive for all your child's hard work!

See below for a few different ideas for using your passports.

Local Community

- Have a discussion with your child about your local community.
- Talk about community helpers (police officers, librarians, etc.), important services (grocery stores, schools, etc.), and/or landmarks (zoos, parks, etc.).
- With each new place discussed, fill in a new section!

New Cultures

- Talk about other countries and cultures around the world.
- Assist your child in researching facts about each new place.
- With each fact discovered, fill in a new section!

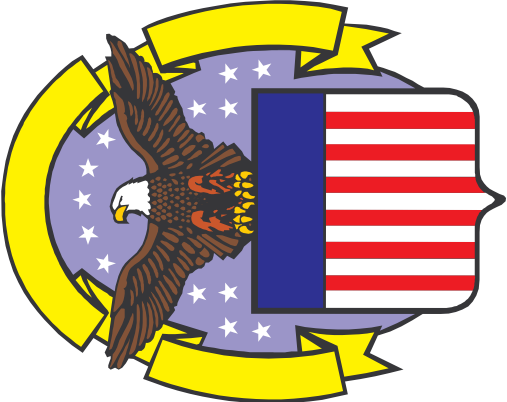

Daily Routines

- This one's the easiest to implement: talk to your child about their daily routine and all the tasks that make up their day!
- With each new activity (play time, meals, toothbrushing), fill in a new section!
- Encourage new experiences and activities by creating a list of additional options that can be included in your child's daily routine!
