

Practice having your child follow multi-step directions using everyday items around the house! Make sure your child waits to hear ALL parts of the directions before he/she begins to complete them! You can use the following examples, make up your own, or even have your child help you with tasks around the house that require multiple steps (assembling ingredients for a recipe, loading the washer or folding laundry, putting toys away in a certain order, etc.)

Here are some examples of 3-, 4-, and 5-step directions that will work perfectly with Simon Says:

3-steps

- Stand up, clap your hands, and turn in a circle.
- Touch your head, put the ball in the bucket, and take a bite of a cookie.
- Do 1 jumping jack, sit down, and close your eyes.

4-steps

- Tap your knees, touch your nose, clap your hands, and take a drink of water.
- Say your name, turn in a circle, bounce the ball once, and sit down.

5-steps

- Put the pillow on the bed, turn in a circle, hop on one foot, lay down on the bed, and clap your hands.
- Touch your toes, roll the ball to me, take a bite of cookie, touch your head, and sit down.
